THE PEGASUS

When the Geelong College accepts a boy into its ranks, it attempts to give him, as an essential part of his education, extra-curricular activities as well as studies. However, the School has seen that sport is not the only desirable activity and has provided two nights a week for non-sporting activities only. This is unique among the Public Schools and we may ask whether we are concentrating on other activities at the expense of our inter-school sporting competition. The College's results recently certainly suggest that our sportsmen are making the best use of the available time, and have lost no sporting prowess. It can hardly be denied that physical exercise is necessary to maintain the body in a healthy condition. However, is it good that a boy should have to give up his cultural activities in order to participate more fully in a sport? If we do spread our activities, one could say that a Collegian may leave school able to do many things, and few of them well. Is this better than being able to do one or two things well? It appears that if we are to have a diverse academic education, we must also try to broaden our horizons and viewpoints as much as possible by participating in extra activities. It is good that a boy should do well at Science, Mathematics and the Humanities, but is it not even better that, as well as this, he should be able to make things with his hands, or play a musical instrument? It is a pity that so often the loudmouth cheerleader on the riverbank who claims to express the ultimate in school spirit cannot show any other significant contributions to the school. Some College sportsmen themselves also fall into the trap of attacking the non-sporting boy for not appearing to support his school, but they do not realize that these people very often represent their school in other, no less important, ways. Perhaps our emphasis in the past has been on the wrong things. Australians are apt to regard sportsmen as "top dogs". If we are to give boys an education to meet the needs of today, we must do away with scorn of things studious and see good in academic excellence as well as in sport.

A SCHOOL T I V I T I E S

LIBRARY

As usual, this year, the library is one of those places that is rarely empty of boys. Unlike other libraries, it still remains open twenty-four hours a day, and as a centre for research and reading, has come in for even heavier use than ever before. The stock of books still increases rapidly, but we are already running out of space.

The highlight of the term was the Children's Book Council Secondary Schools' meeting in Melbourne, at which David Laidlaw, and Ross Hepburn, both of the Library Council, along with two other speakers from M.L.C., provided reviews on books which for them had "opened doors". The discussion which these reviews provoked provided a most interesting evening.

As in the past, the library has continued the practice of lunch time talks, and this term the speakers were: Dr. G. F. R. Cole, Ross Hepburn and Mr. Whitton. The Library Committee has met regularly, and the Council has had two meetings at which much business was discussed. We wish to thank Christopher Lang and Mrs. A. G. Holden for their gifts of books, and Mr. R. K. McArthur, and Dr. J. W. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, for their gifts of periodicals.

SOCIAL SERVICE

Committee:

Peter Betts, Geoff Chapman, Jon Paton, James Williamson, Graeme David, Ian Morris.

The Social Service Committee was formed at the beginning of term. The Committee's main activity has been planning the weekly collections. After some consideration, a general policy has been developed for the remainder of the year. The remaining appeals will include a major appeal of five weeks duration and minor appeals of either one or two weeks.

It was felt, after examining the many deserving appeals received each year, that they can be divided into general classes such as 'child care', 'overseas aid', 'educational projects', 'church enterprises', 'health projects' etc., as well as emergency appeals. The Committee is trying to preserve a balance between the clamant calls on its attention, bearing in mind the importance of the appeal and the informative value of presenting the appeal to the school.

This term, Social Service contributions have averaged $15.00 each week and have been directed to the Tasmanian Bushfire Relief, the Monash University Interdenominational Centre Project, the provision of extra High School accommodation in the New Guinea Methodist District, the Australian Red Cross, scholarships for Ethiopia, the Church's chaplaincy in the Geelong Hospital, the Geelong Spastic Centre, the provision of books for institutionalised children at Christmas and the Karingal rural project for mentally retarded children.

Another aspect of Social Service being explored by the Committee is the possibility of the school undertaking work projects of some kind in the community.

P.F.A.

Committee:

David Hooke (President), Peter Young (Secretary), Richard Hobday, James Williamson, Jon Paton, Greg Farquharson, Lex Spry.

Under the enthusiastic guidance of David Hooke and Peter Young, the Committee has planned an interesting programme. Some of the main features have been a talk by the Rev. John Cooper who told us of his projected return to the New Hebrides, an illustrated introduction to the Iona Community by Mr. Davey and an outline of the problems facing Probation Officers.

A joint meeting has been held with the Committee of the Morongo P.F.A. and several joint activities are planned for next term.

EXPLORATION SOCIETY

DARLING RIVER TRIP: CHRISTMAS, 1966

Preliminary reports on the state of the river were discouraging—there was only ten inches of water at Pooncarie; the Water Conservation Authorities at Menindee Lakes said we could not get down in a dinghy, and station owners contacted were pessimistic about our chances. With such information we settled for Burtundy—an old homestead and abandoned hotel, about one hundred and twenty river miles upstream from Wentworth. It was a lot further downstream than where we had originally intended to start, but this distance would give us a fair cross-section of the Darling.

So, on the morning of the 27th of December, we set out for Burtundy with our boat, stores and equipment, all checked and ready for the river. The sixty mile trip to the starting point was uneventful, but it did take us across the ten inch isohyet and into the semi-desert sheep-grazing country of western New South Wales.

The aborigines called it the "great, ugly river"; Sturt described it as "a noble river"; whereas Mitchell was glad to get away from its "dreary" banks. When we first saw it, it looked sluggish and low with a greenish tinge. However, this did not deter us as we descended the steep banks, loaded our boat and set off. Scarcely round the first bend, the engine sickened and cut out. We were aground on a sand-bar. As was to prove the routine on many an occasion, two of us clambered out and pushed whilst the third rowed to deeper water. Snags were encountered and successfully negotiated in all instances, some of them being trees fallen right across the river.

Later on in the day, we came across our first major obstacle—a small punt completely blocking the river, and serving as a temporary bridge whilst the river was low. The boat had to be almost completely unloaded so that it could be dragged across the track and into unimpeded waters. Once repacked, we journeyed on, passing two stations before setting up camp for the night.

Soon after sun-up we were away, and, although the condition of the river was steadily improving, the going was still relatively slow with shallow water, snags and sand-bars to contend with. Rounding a bend, a tell-tale windmill and its suction pipe running into the river revealed the presence of a station. As we pulled over to the side of the river, a man descended the bank and introduced himself saying that he was manager of Para station. We spent a half hour conversing with him, during which time he mentioned that his station, biggest in the area, covered 283,000 acres!

We travelled on during the remainder of the day, not without incident, and made camp for the night one mile below Garston station.

The next day the back-up from the weir at Wentworth was particularly noticeable, rendering the river deeper and wider. We had not travelled far when we came across a cow, firmly bogged in the mud at the water's edge, and unable to climb out up the steep bank. The next station was only round a few bends so we informed a couple of jackeroos at the homestead, and the cow was successfully pulled out of the ooze with a tractor.

But then disaster! Not one hundred yards past the station the outboard motor started roaring furiously indicating that the engine's power was not being transferred to the propeller. The gears had gone! The cook at the station was unable to help us so the answer was to row to the next station ten miles away. We eventually arrived there, rang up home, and requested that the less powerful outboard be sent over. Mr. West made the trip that night, and so, the following day, we were able to continue on our way into Wentworth, at the Murray-Darling Junction.

After a late start on New Year's Eve, we arrived in Mildura well after sundown—the Murray was deep, wide and uninteresting in contrast to the Darling.

We started at dawn the next day, for we had to portage our boat and all equipment around Mildura Weir. This done, we continued on our way past the attractive Mildura riverside with paddle-steamers and pleasure craft lining the banks.

In retrospect, the first half of the trip was most enjoyable. Our ingenuity and initiative were tested by many and varied obstacles in the four days we spent in the muddy channel that is the Darling. Once into the Murray, we felt overwhelmed in the midst of this great stream, merely sitting in the boat becoming restless and irritable.

The weather proved quite warm and our cook, Mr. Stock, suffered with harsh sunburn.

Those who went were: M. Stock, Esq., J. E. West and A. H. Johns.

MOROKA RIVER TRIP: DECEMBER, 1966

On our arrival at Heyfield, Mr. Elliott sought out the local forestry officer to inform him of our arrival. The man we wanted proved to be the "man in white" for the local cricket match that afternoon. Leaving a message for him, we set out for Licola. After Licola the grade of the road became steadily steeper, and the mini-bus hotter as we climbed Bennison Spur. After replenishing the radiator at a roadside waterfall, we arrived at the Little River and spent the night in forestry-commission huts of primitive and rustic design.

Next morning was spent in a short reconnaissance of the area to get a better picture of our position. Returning to camp, we decided to move the mini-bus back up the road about a mile to a better starting point. Eggy (I. Forsyth) injured his leg so he was left in charge of the mini-bus when we left for the hike-proper that afternoon. Descending to Horseyard Flat, we followed the Moroka River. Wading the Little River just above its confluence with the Moroka and crossing over a subsequent spur brought us to a camp-site beside the Moroka below an incessantly roaring waterfall.

The next morning as we climbed on and ever upwards then downwards, evidence of the presence of lyrebirds was seen. At mid-day, having decided on a camp-site on a branch of the Kent Creek, and leaving our packs there (a motion agreed upon unanimously) we proceeded to the Moroka Gorge for the afternoon. Emerging on a ledge above the gorge we were treated to a magnificent view. Below us the white water of the Moroka plummeted over a large waterfall down into the misty depths. To the right and left sheer cliff walls dropped to meet the turbulent waters. On our return we spent an anxious two hours or so trying to find the camp. However Feddersen's prayers were answered when we struggled into camp at dusk.

The following morning saw us slogging up the spur of Mt. Kent but we were tied down by the weather so the next day was spent drying ourselves. Owing to our position, it was a case of "water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink", but after obtaining enough water from the trunks of trees by catching the run off, the position was rectified. Our intended assault of the summit of Mt. Kent was abandoned.

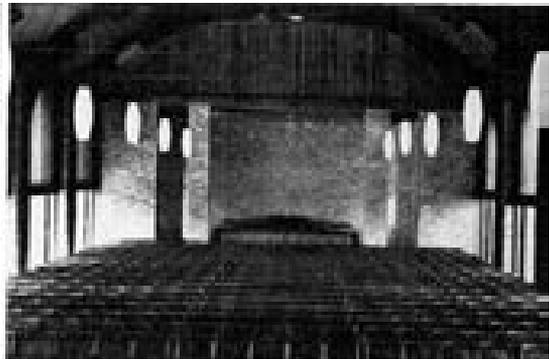

Meanwhile Mr. Elliott had found a track and, assuming it led in the right direction, decided we should follow it. When we came upon Dingo Hill and then "Dingo Dell", we began to entertain grave doubts because neither of these places were shown on our map. We ate our lunch in a bravely optimistic state. Later in the afternoon, however, we recognized one of our earlier tracks. Confidently we struck out for home in this new direction. Crossing a river we began to follow a slightly circuitous route. Doubting our true position, we struck camp and decided to sleep on this problem. Our camp was on marshy ground so it was possible to obtain water from soaks.

In the morning the weather cleared up and we struck off again with rejuvenated spirit. After descending and crossing Wild Cattle Creek we arrived in country we thought we recognized as that which we had seen on the first day. Contouring around the spurs and following the Little River upstream we eventually saw the road and emerged triumphant back at the huts of the first night—and Eggy. As far as everyone was concerned the hike was all over, bar Eggy's shouting.

Those who participated were: F. W. Elliott, Esq., I. (Eggy) Forsyth, A. C. Walter, M. L. David, D. G. Selman, D. Feddersen, I. A. Baird.

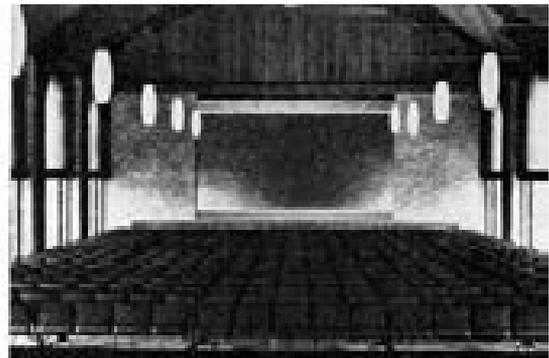

THE MORRISON HALL PAST . . .

LOOKING SOUTH

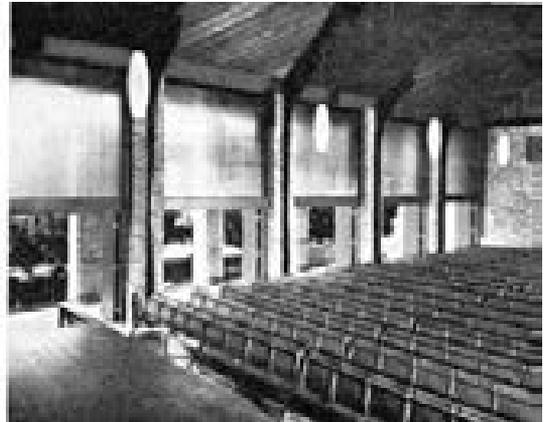

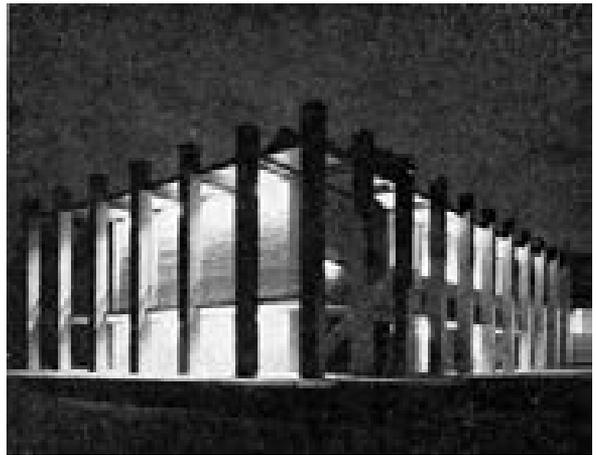

As part of the extension and renovation, the seating was turned around so that the original stage end of the hall is now the back. A new annexe provides more space.

LOOKING NORTH

The old back stairs area has been extended and is now the stage of the new hall. Panelled, sliding doors separate main stage from apron during morning assembly.

AND PRESENT

FROM THE STAGE

FOUNDATION STONE

The foundation stone of the Hall was re-laid on Friday, 8th July, 1966, by the Principal in the presence of the architect, Mr. P. N. Everist, and the school prefects. It was one of those remarkable coincidences that the re-laying should have taken place on such an appropriate day as The Geelong College Founders' Day.

DONORS' DAY

Guests were piped into the Hall on Friday, May 12, 1967, for a Donors' Day Luncheon for appeal contributors. After the luncheon Dr. Bishop reported on the appeal; Mr. Everist outlined the achievements and future plans; Mr. Desmond Gaunt spoke of providing, for the hall, a portrait of the late Norman Morrison.

NEW ANGLES

STAFF JOTTINGS

Four new members of staff were welcomed at the Senior School this year. The Reverend J. D. Martin, B.A., who was previously well known as minister of St. Andrew's, Geelong, is the new school chaplain; Mr. B. M. McCarthy, who trained and taught with the South Australian Education Department and subsequently taught in an independent school, has joined the staff to teach middle school Mathematics and English; Mr. D. W. McNeill, B.A., who comes to Geelong from Brisbane Boys' College, has succeeded Mr. B. R. Keith as Senior Geography Master; and Mr. R. Salen, Grad. I.E.E., who came from the U.K. in 1964 and was an engineer with the South Australian Railways before coming to the college, has joined the Science and Mathematics staff.

Other changes include the appointment of Mr. C. A. Bickford as Master-in-Charge of Third Forms, Mr. M. Stock as Master-in-Charge of the newly formed General Studies Department, Mr. R. B. Tattersall as Senior Mathematics Master, Mr. J. R. Hunter as Housemaster of Shannon House, and Mr. A. D. Mahar as Senior English Master.

The new members of staff replace the Reverend J. D. Bentley, who was chaplain for two years and has now returned to parish work; Mr. M. W. Blank, who has returned to Queensland after a year on the senior mathematics staff; and Mr. J. V. Hanna, who has accepted an appointment in Melbourne after four terms of economics teaching.

Mr. D. Webb left for six months study leave abroad at the end of first term 1967. His investigations will include work for the Country Galleries Association of which he is chairman. His teaching will be shared by Mr. F. W. Elliott, Mr. F. White and Mr. A. J. Firth.

Mr. J. E. McGarvin, Dip. Sec. Teach., T.S.T.C., F.R.G.S., has been appointed to teach economics in the Senior School as from the beginning of second term this year. Mr. McGarvin previously taught economics and history with the Victorian Education Department and has just returned from a tour of Asian countries including China, Japan and Hong Kong.

THE LONGEST LINK

Mrs. Evelyn Hilda Gaunt, who died at Geelong on April 30, had a truly lifelong connection with the Geelong College. She was the daughter of George and Rebecca Morrison, her father being Mr. (later Dr.) Morrison, the College's first Principal.

The youngest of the Doctor's family of eight children, she was born at the College in 1877, only six years after the then new buildings on Newtown Hill had been opened.

Part of her education was gained at the P.L.C., Melbourne; later she travelled abroad for some years. She married Mr. C. Gaunt, Government Advocate in Burma, and, while living in Rangoon, periodically visited Australia.

In 1935 the family returned to Victoria, where Mr. Gaunt died in 1942.

Mrs. Gaunt remained strikingly alert and active till the last. Although suffering from failing eyesight, which necessitated living in a hospital in Newtown, she could often be seen taking a brisk afternoon walk in the neighbourhood she had known so well as a girl. She was particularly interested in the latest developments at the College.

When the modernization of the Morrison Hall was announced, Mrs. Gaunt offered to present a portrait of her brother, Norman, to be hung in the hall which is his memorial. This, her last wish for the College that she knew and loved through ninety years, is soon to be realized.

Her son, Desmond (1930), and grandson, Clive (1963), are Old Collegians.

SPORT

In the year of the one hundredth Boat Race, it is appropriate that we should publish a picture of the Barwon River as it looked when College first started rowing in the 1880's. The photograph, kindly provided by Mr. A. Austin Gray, is from a painting of the period.

ROWING

Master-in-charge: T. L. Macmillan, Esq.

FIRST VIII

E. J. McLarty, R. D. Simson, R. F. Gardner, C. N. Beel, D. H. Hooke (Cox), D. J. McIvor, P. L. Bartlett, G. Longton, D. F. Koch.

This year, we believe, can be claimed as one of our good rowing years. We may not have won the coveted Head of the River title, as we had hoped we would, but all rowers enjoyed a season in which co-operation and maximum endeavour from all taking part was the key note.

The later date for the Head of the River, and the Easter Camp, gave our crews more time to train, and we feel that our over-all physical fitness reached its highest level for a number of years. This was principally due to the dedicated attitude with which boys approached exercises, possibly the least attractive, and certainly the most gruelling, part of rowing. If subsequent rowers can emulate this year's crews in this regard it augurs well for a future in which we must think of times in the order of 4 minutes 30 seconds being necessary if we are to win the title. We must congratulate Scotch College and their "Old Collegian" coach on their meritorious win.

Our panel of coaches, again led by the inimitable Albert Bell, gave untiring and selfless service to College rowing. This was undoubtedly the major contributing factor to the happy atmosphere which prevailed in the shed throughout the season. One way in which we can show our gratitude is in an equally dedicated endeavour next year to attain fitness and rowing ability under their direction.

Few friends of the College, other than rowers, past and present, realize what a tremendous contribution these men make year by year to the life of the College in the building of character and physique in the boys under their care. The coach-boy relationship is a lasting one as is seen when old boys visit us at the sheds during the rowing season.

All crews acquitted themselves well in the Barwon, Junior, and Head of the River regattas. The fourth VIII are to be congratulated on winning their division at the Head of the River while three of our five crews reached the winners' finals in their divisions. The junior eights, though they did not win, performed very creditably at the Junior Regatta in Melbourne. The standard of rowing and enthusiasm of the boys in all the lower crews promises much for the future of rowing at the College which is in line with our past tradition of being one of the leading rowing schools.

EASTER CAMP

This year again, as Boat Race was after the Easter vacation, the first three VIII's had an Easter camp. This was the first one since 1964. The programme was as follows:-

Wednesday and Thursday: We rowed in the afternoon and then had tea. Exercises were brought forward at 8.00 p.m. and afterwards leave was granted until midnight.

Friday: We attended Church at 9.30 a.m. and must have looked quite impressive all well turned out in the school blazer. The weather was not the best, but we decided to go for a picnic to the coast near Torquay. Slight rain spoiled the fun of the day, but Mr. McNeil saw that all enjoyment was not lost. Tea that night was in the form of a barbecue behind the gymnasium. We had an early night after exercises.

Saturday: After breakfast all boys went to the river for a full day's rowing. This was a hard day but improvement was evident. After tea, lights were put out after Albert Bell had shown some films of this year's First VIII as well as past VIII's.

Sunday: After breakfast all crews went to Church, and afterwards we took a bus to Mr. & Mrs. McCann's property at Ceres. This day was shared by Geelong Grammar School. Food was supplied entirely by the McCanns, and again for a barbecue tea. Their hospitality and friendliness will be remembered by all. The afternoon was spent watching the Australian surfboard championships at Bell's Beach.

Monday: We again went to the river for a full day's rowing. However, things were made brighter by the fact that King's School, Sydney, spent the morning rowing with us. They were a heavier crew than we were, and on the water they looked very powerful. We rowed with them over a mile and they defeated us by two feet. We feel that this visit by King's School was a very worthwhile one, and it certainly made a hard day's rowing seem easier.

Tuesday: The only rowing was a normal afternoon's, and the exercises that night were the last for the season. Many parents were there to see our last exercise period.

The camp could never have been a success without the enthusiasm of Mr. McNeil, and the coaches, who all gave up their time in our interests, and without the help of the kitchen staff, who throughout the season have made a great contribution to the welfare of the Boat Club.

FIRST VIII

Coach: A. B. Bell, Esq.

The season began with the formation of a scratch crew which was made up of boys who returned from last year's crews. Surprisingly, the scratch crew fitted together very well and, after two early changes, the eventual crew was rowing together from the 11th of February—a little over a week into the training period. We soon settled down to the weeks of training ahead, maintaining the good work on the river and in the gym.

The Barwon Regatta offered variety in training with the benefit of gaining experience. We were entered in the Junior VIII's division, and drew Caulfield Grammar in the second heat. In this race Caulfield jumped to a short lead of about half a length, but soon we rowed them down and took the lead. At the mill we were two lengths in front and Albert told us to row light, but in the spirit of the race we were reluctant to do this and won by two and a half lengths.

In the final we rowed against Melbourne Grammar and Monash University. As we had not practised our starts, again the other crews jumped to a short lead at the start. We soon settled down, and by persistent drive through the water we drew up to, and then edged ahead of, Melbourne Grammar. Just before the mills Monash were almost three quarters of a length in front, and in our final bid we reduced their lead to a canvas as we crossed the line three quarters of a length ahead of Melbourne Grammar. Spurred on by our moderate success we settled down to the last month of training before the Head of the River. Gym exercises kept increasing steadily as we became fitter, and they were done well by everyone till the gym work concluded shortly after Easter.

On Easter Monday we rowed with King's School, Paramatta, and did a course with them. In this race we got a very good lead and we were content to try to sit on it, but the decidedly heavier King's crew were too strong and narrowly defeated us. This went down to experience and Albert told us not to become complacent when we gain a lead but to go on fighting. Our congratulations go to King's for winning their race in the Greater Public Schools' Regatta.

The draw for the First Heat of the Head of the River was: 1. St. Kevin's. 2. Geelong College, 3. Xavier, 4. Brighton Grammar. In this race all four crews got away to a clean start with no crew leading its rivals. Then College burst to a canvas lead over the other crews still on even terms. Just before the half mile we sprinted and held half a length over Xavier. With clean, long and hard strokes, we increased our lead still further. In the last 150 yards Xavier weakened a little allowing St. Kevin's strong finish to slip them into second place by two feet. We crossed the line a length ahead of St. Kevin's in 4 min. 56.8 sec.

In the Second Heat Wesley was first to take the lead, but Melbourne Grammar soon rowed them down and won by 1.5 lengths, in the time of 4 min. 57.2 sec. Carey was never in the race.

The Third Heat saw Scotch romp home 2 lengths ahead of G.G.S., who were 1 length in front of Caulfield, in the fastest time of 4 min. 52.4 sec.

In the Final, College had the north station, with Scotch in the centre and Melbourne Grammar on the south. The strong following conditions held up the race for ten minutes. College gained a break on the other crews and, at the 300 yard mark held i length over Melbourne Grammar with Scotch in third position. By the half mile Scotch's strength showed out when they took the lead. Their extra weight and experience took them on to easy victory in the time of 4 min. 33.4 sec, only two seconds outside the record time they set last year. We finished two lengths behind Melbourne Grammar in third position. Our time in the Head of the River was our fastest for the season. The very fact that we competed in the Hundredth Head of the River Final must surely show that the 1967 rowing season was not only a happy one but a successful one.

Among those who made our season so successful, special mention should be made of Mr. Macmillan and Mr. McNeil who were responsible for keeping the rowing club functioning smoothly. As in previous years, the First VIII was again most fortunate in having Albert Bell as its coach. Albert's keen coaching knowledge and tremendous experience were the key factors in the crew's achievement.

The crew was: Bow, D. F. Koch; 2, G. Longton; 3, P. L. Bartlett; 4, D. J. McIvor; 5, C. N. Beel; 6, R. F. Gardner; 7, R. D. Simson; Stroke, E. J. McLarty; Cox, D. H. Hooke.

SECOND VIII

Coach: R. W. Parnell, Esq.

By the first Monday of training the initial scratch crew, rowing in the "Claremont", had emerged as the Second VIII. That night exercises commenced and continued until two weeks from boatraces. At first the crew was rather unsettled, but we showed marked improvement and steadiness in blade work and balance when we moved into the training eight, the "Wimmera O.G.C.A.". The first week had been devoted to attaining the preliminary standard of fitness, which meant not only exercises but gruelling "swing throughs" to the breakwater. By the end of the first ten days we had already rowed 100 miles and felt considerably fitter.

The Barwon Regatta was our first row under racing conditions, and it proved valuable experience. G.G.S. First VIII and Hawthorn Club, both beat us comfortably, but St. Kevin's were a good length behind us in fourth place.

By the 15th March we were back in the "Claremont", and despite initial unsteadiness, soon concentrated our training for Boatraces. The crew was improving rapidly, and very keen. We approached our boatraces with great determination.

By the Friday heats we were ready to give of our best. Trying as hard as we could, our best just was not good enough. A very strong G.G.S. crossed the line three lengths ahead of C.G.S. with College half a length behind and X.C. a length away, fourth.

In the losers' final on Saturday we rowed much better and got away to a good start. Despite this, M.G.S. were too strong for us, and eventually won by a length, with X.C. a length behind us in third place.

Enthusiasm and keenness prevailed throughout all 506 miles of the season which proved most enjoyable and profitable. However, we could never have got along without the unflinching guidance and encouragement of our coach, Mr. Robert Purnell.

The crew was: Bow, D. W. Hamilton; 2, A. G. Davey; 3, P. T. R. Turnbull; 4, N. G. Forbes; 5, P. C. Young; 6, P. F. Fraser; 7, E. S. Taylor; Stroke, P. A. Webster; Cox, I. S. Grove.

THIRD VIII

Coach: S. Thomas, Esq.

With everyone keen to repeat the success of last year's Third VIII, this year's crew got off to an enthusiastic start. After the usual flurry of the first few weeks, a tentative seating was arranged, and this remained fairly stable throughout the season. Exercises began early, and the Thirds participated with the First and Seconds. Progress was fairly rapid, under the experienced eye of our coach, Syd Thomas. On the day of the Barwon Regatta, we had bad luck in our heat, and consequently did not reach the final. However, valuable experience was gained by all. Setbacks now started to occur with increasing regularity. Ford Strachan and Gilby Fryatt were called to service in the Second VIII a number of times, and we were further prevented from rowing by a series of detentions gained by crew members. Geoff Chapman joined us just before we entered the Easter Camp and the seating was finalized. Syd Thomas now had the mammoth task of moulding us into a good combination. We made quite rapid progress in the last week before Boat Race under his expert guidance, and we were unlucky to miss out on both the Winners' and the Intermediate Finals by only two feet. The margin between the three crews was three feet in the closest race seen for years.

We are all deeply indebted to Syd Thomas for his tireless contribution towards the rowing club and the Third VIII, and we hope to see him at the river again, when we return next year.

The crew was: Bow, R. McD. Sims; 2, K. A. Borthwick; 3, J. W. Thompson; 4, G. A. Chapman; 5, J. F. Strachan; 6, G. J. Fryatt; 7, M. J. Betts; Stroke, M. L. Nation; Cox, C. T. Andrews.

FOURTH VIII

Coach: P. Millar, Esq.

Although we have had a very successful year, it has not been without a lot of work on the part of our coach, "Dusty" Millar, and hard training engaged in by the members of the crew.

Bow, E. A. Sutherland; 2, J. S. H. Cole; 3, J. K. Smibert; 4, D. S. Laidlaw; 5, T. C. Dennis; 6, W. A. Lyon; 7, K. W. Nation; Stroke, K. Edwards; Cox, T. R. Chatham.

The Barwon Regatta was the turning point of the season. We were successful in our heat, although by only a small margin, and we were equal to the Geelong Grammar crew. From that day we never looked back. Even the change of boats, from the "Claremont" to the "Wimmera", did not upset our confidence, and we began to put in some really good times for that part of the season.

The Easter camp was probably the highlight of the season. During this camp we were able to "clock" up many good times and have a lot of fun. It was not long afterwards that we found ourselves in the last week of training before the Head of the River. This was probably the most trying period of the season, as tension was building up, and naturally our rowing deteriorated a little. But as the week progressed, we felt that we were as ready as ever we would be for the big event.

We had a comparatively easy draw for our heat, our only strong opponent being Scotch College, and immediately the race began, we jumped away to a half-length start. We knew beforehand, that if we could get that lead, we would be able to hold it. We forged ahead and increased our lead, to win by one and a half lengths in the good time of 2 min. 14 sec. Scotch College was in second place.

The final race was not as easy. We made a very bad start, which rather put us off balance. But there was nothing between the four crews up to the half-way mark. We knew that if we were going to win, we would have to forge ahead then, and an increased rating enabled us to gain about a canvas lead. From there we rowed well to the line, beating off several attempts by Wesley College to take the lead. We won by half a length from Wesley College, with Melbourne Grammar School third.

This was "Dusty's" first win as a coach and well he deserved it. He is the one who should take the credit, for without his encouragement and advice we would never have been able to make this year "our year".

The crew was: Bow, S. A. Sutherland; 2, S. J. H. Cole; 3, J. K. Smibert; 4, D. S. Laidlaw; 5, T. C. Dennis; 6, W. A. Lyon; 7, K. W. Nation; Stroke, K. Edwards; Cox, T. R. Chatham.

FIFTH VIII

Coach: G. Searle, Esq.

This year we suffered from constant changes, and did not settle down until Easter. However, this did not daunt the unquenchable enthusiasm of our coach, George Searle, and the boys. For the first half of the season we concentrated on low rating, with powerful strokes. For the first time the Fifth crew rowed during Easter, and gave George the chance to mould us into a tightly knit crew, with a higher, more powerful rating and better starts.

In the heat we rowed well, beating Melbourne Grammar School by three quarters of a length, with Xavier College third. With a time of 2 min. 18 sec. the fastest heat, we knew we had a good chance in the final. After a very close race Geelong Grammar School won by a length from Wesley College with College two feet away, third.

Everybody felt we achieved a great deal throughout the season, but without "George", with the tireless and unselfish hours he spent coaching us, we could not have enjoyed the season as we did.

The crew was: Bow, W. A. Waters; 2, M. L. David; 3, P. C. Birrell; 4, R. J. Jamieson; 5, D. R. Anderson; 6, A. C. Urquhart; 7, L. McD. Doody; Stroke, B. A. Smibert; Cox, G. A. Roydhouse.

SIXTH VIII

The crew was: Bow, C. R. Partington; 2, R. W. Moore; 3, R. C. Cameron; 4, C. A. Roebuck; 5, D. W. Ellis; 6, D. C. Filbay; 7, A. W. Edgar; Stroke, R. S. Fenner; Cox, J. M. Slattery.

Dave Ramage, a past rower of the College boat club and Olympic oarsman, did an excellent job in moulding a fine crew from a keen and willing group of boys. The Sixths started the rowing season in the "A. B. Bell" but switched to the "Wimmera" a week before the Junior Regatta, held on the Yarra on the 15th April. As with the other crews, they met with bigger and stronger eights at the Regatta but nevertheless fought hard, and valuable experience was gained by all.

SEVENTH VIII

The crew was: Bow, R. W. Grimmer; 2, D. R. Alexander; 3, D. R. Henry; 4, P. H. Vanrenan; 5, D. M. Doman; 6, S. W. Millikan; 7, R. G. Colvin; Stroke, J. A. Macgugan; Cox, J. R. Meredith.

The Sevenths started off rowing in the "Pegasus III" but, after a collision with a Corio club eight, training was transferred to fours for a short period. However Mr. Alan Sykes, as usual, soon had the boat repaired and on the water again. Not long after this the Firsts moved into the "J. H. Bromell" and the Sevenths took over the "Pegasus II" which the Sixths had been using. Mr. Andrew Lawson, also an old boy of the College and a past rower, took over the coaching position after an absence of four years and filled the position admirably, bringing the crew to its top on Junior Regatta day.

EIGHTH VIII

The crew was: Bow, S. McD. Davey; 2, J. A. B. Faulkner; 3, C. R. Richards; 4, S. R. Jaques; 5, M. K. Acocks; 6, R. H. Thomas; 7, T. G. B. Wood; Stroke, H. G. Seward; Cox, D. I. Silke.

Messrs. D. Extead and R. Miller operated a joint coaching system, coaching the Eighths and keeping an eye on the two racing fours which raced in the Junior Regatta and, although the crews trained hard, they met very strong opposition at the Regatta and did well considering they were opposed to older and heavier rowers.

HOUSE ROWING

Again this year, house rowing was held in fours rather than eights, each house having an A and B crew. On the 10th April, house practices were held, and crews finalized. On the 12th the heats were held. The highlight of the afternoon was the row by the Morrison A crew. At the start they went to a lead of a length, then they crabbed. The crew recovered and were gaining at the mills on Mackie. But a disaster occurred, and the seat of a Morrison oar came off, and they had to row home with only three members rowing. They still came second to qualify for the final.

SWIMMING

Master-in-Charge: C. J. H. Barley, Esq.

Coach: R. Saley, Esq.

The swimming team for 1967, although very keen, was considerably weakened by the loss of several good swimmers, but under the circumstances acquitted itself very well. However, the strength of swimming in the other schools was too strong for our team. We were successful in beating only one other Public School. The team competed at only four meetings, plus one organized meeting against Geelong Grammar School and Chanel College.

The under 14 section was the strongest, with good performances from M. Kroger and P. Lowe. Other swimmers who performed well were Lindquist D. K., Ritchie L. S., Roydhouse J. W. and Batten D. L. H.

A special mention must be made of Michael Ritchie, who has been diving for five years, and this year was our only competitor in the open diving section.

At the "Geelong All-Schools Competition" at Norlane on 18th March, the College team was once again successful in retaining the Strahan Shield for the seventh consecutive year.

Swimming suffered this year, as it has in the past, from the lack of training facilities in the school area, but with help from Mr. Salen, Mr. Barley arranged many training sessions, some of which were at 6 o'clock in the morning.

It would seem that the Melbourne Public Schools are gradually forging ahead of us in swimming, because they have their own pools.

This year, with the assistance of the two swimming masters, sixteen boys obtained their bronze medallions and six boys gained their bronze crosses.

HOUSE SPORTS

This year the annual House Swimming Sports were held at the Norlane swimming pool on March 1st.

The results of the Inter-House contest was not known until the conclusion of the last event, but Mackie ran out the eventual winners from Shannon.

Aggregate points were: Mackie, 119i; Shannon, 117; Calvert, 105; McArthur, 105; Morrison, 91 J; Warrinn, 44.

The open individual championship was won by D. L. H. Batten with a total of 10 points; M. S. Ritchie and J. W. Roydhouse, with two points each, were equal second.

Other individual championships were:

CRICKET

Standing: G. L. Jones, I. A. Keith, A. J. Randell (Scorer), B. L. Costin, C. N. Collins M A Riddle
 G. A. Farquharson, D. A. Johnstone, R. V. Bramley, I. L. Bennett.
 Sitting: P. L. Marendaz, D. S. Barkley, G. G. Oman (Captain), E. B. Davies, Esq. (Coach) A W

 In Front: R. J. Forsyth, R. J. Sheringham.

Geoffrey Oman was appointed captain of cricket for 1967, with Alex Morrison his deputy; David Barkley and Jamie Williamson made up the committee.

On paper, our record of two wins and four losses was not impressive, but, with the exception of the Brighton Grammar match, the games were very interesting, and provided spectators with good cricket. Our wins over Melbourne Grammar, and Haileybury were great morale boosters.

In analysing the strengths and weaknesses of the team, it was obvious that Geoff Oman, whose batting almost equalled the great performances of Paul Sheahan, carried the team to its good batting totals. Geoff was ably assisted, at different times, by Jamie Williamson, David Barkley, Robert Sheringham, Alex Morrison, Phillip Marendaz and Ian Keith. The batting from number seven down was very brittle and contributed little.

Our bowling could only be classed as fair, and after three matches we unfortunately lost the services of right-arm-medium-pacer Crichton Collins who contracted pneumonia. Alex Morrison was troubled throughout the season with a back injury, and could not bowl consistently well. However, Alex and Geoff Oman bowled really well in the matches which we won.

The fielding was very poor at the commencement of the season, but improved towards the end, and in the last match against Haileybury it was outstanding, a tribute to constant practice. The team was well served behind the stumps; David Barkley's stumping and catching was the best seen in College cricket for many years.

While every team has its share of luck, good and bad, and receives decisions which do not seem right at the time, it is interesting to go back and look at instances which affected our team either for better or worse.

Against Xavier: (1) Alex Morrison breaks down after hitting, to the boundary, the first ball he received, and could not bowl properly again. (2) Wicket-keeper David Barkley catches Xavier batsman Quinn on the leg side; umpire gives batsman not out because he thought David dropped the ball.

Against Carey: (1) Carey batsman Hutchins walks after being caught behind, but comes back when umpire does not think he hit ball. (2) Barkley and Sheringham both injured, and have to be replaced.

Against Caulfield: Two run-outs early, and our last five batsmen contribute five runs between them.

Against M.G.S.: Grammar lose 4 for 0 after a good start. Was it the noise of the Tramways Board's pneumatic drills, or Dave Barkley's great stumping of Grammar batsman Whittakers that turned the game our way?

Against Brighton: Century maker Adamson missed fairly easily when only 6 runs.

Against Haileybury: Winning the toss on Friday, which allowed us to bowl on Saturday in an atmosphere which enabled Geoff Oman to bowl what seemed to be unhittable in-swingers.

Although not as successful as we had hoped in matches won, the season was most enjoyable, the weather was very kind, the team was well led, and a good team spirit prevailed.

The enjoyment of the season was added to by the after-match, Friday night barbecues at the homes of Dr. P. Bunyan and Mrs. Bunyan, Rev. J. I. Williamson and Mrs. Williamson, and Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers; our pre-bedtime swims at the "Y"; the coach's good driving of the school bus; and the constant support of parents.

The Oman parents entertained the team at a wonderful end-of-season dinner at their home. At this function a presentation was made to Stewart Rankin, our groundsman, in appreciation of the wonderful wickets we played on in matches and practice.

The groundsmen, Mrs. Cloke and her staff, the office staff, and scoreboard attendants were among the many people who helped make our interesting and successful season.

FIRST P.S. MATCH

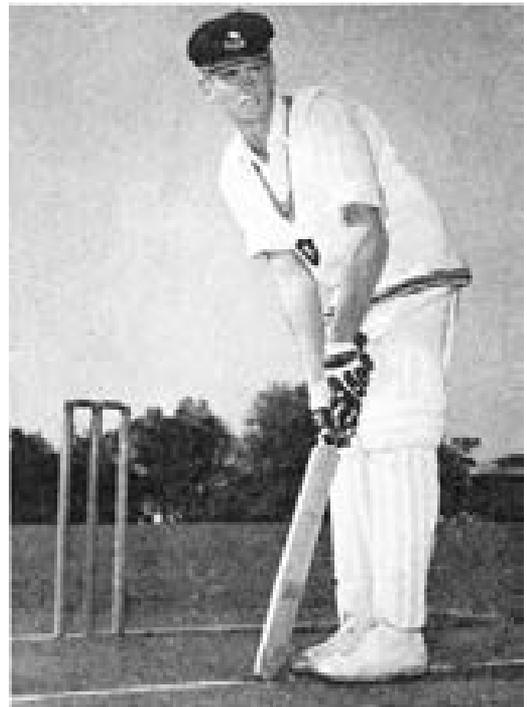

Geelong College v. Xavier College at Xavier College, 10th-11th February.

Oman won the toss and elected to bat in ideal conditions. Marendaz and Johnstone opened confidently and the first wicket fell at 26. Unfortunately, College, anticipating a good score, were disappointed, as Williamson and Barkley were quickly dismissed. Oman got quickly into stride and he and Morrison were batting well when Morrison was forced to retire with an injured back. The score at this stage was a dismal 5/45. A fine partnership of 80 runs by Oman and Sheringham followed. However, after this partnership was broken, the tail-end batsmen offered little resistance, and College were all out shortly before stumps for 186. Oman's fine innings of 78 dominated the total.

Xavier opened their innings the next morning, with the College team feeling confident. Oman broke through quickly, but the bowlers were finding the going difficult and it was some time before the next wicket fell. Xavier were batting well, and after two fine innings by Testro and Whalen, Fitzgerald and Quinn came to the creases. College saw its total passed before Costin broke through. The College bowlers were getting on top at tea, when Xavier declared at 9/254.

College's second innings started poorly, when Johnstone was out without scoring. However, a solid innings by Marendaz, and another brilliant innings by Oman rescued the side from disaster. Oman finished with 87 not out scoring a good proportion of College's final score of 3/130.

SECOND P.S. MATCH

Geelong College v. Brighton Grammar School at Brighton Grammar, 17th-18th February.

Adamson of Brighton Grammar School won the toss and elected to bat on a perfect wicket. The two opening batsmen presented little trouble and were soon dismissed, but a strong stand by Adamson, 119, and Wilson, 103, put on 208 runs for the third wicket. The College bowlers could not break the partnership on a wicket which gave them little or no help and held no terrors for the batsmen and Brighton finished the day with 5/300.

When Brighton resumed the next morning, Morrison broke through the batting to wind up their innings at 328. His final figures were 5/107.

The College openers, Marendaz and Keith, got us off to a good start with our best opening partnership for the season of 39 runs; but the rest of the batsmen failed to take up the initiative with the exception of William-son, 29, and Barkley, 26. The College was dismissed for the dismal score of 139, our lowest for the season. A newcomer to the Brighton line-up, Smith, was the main wicket taker with 4/26 from 15.5 overs.

Forced to follow on after tea, the College was not in trouble and the score went to 0/43 when stumps were drawn 55 minutes early. Brighton, therefore, finished with a win on the first innings by 189 runs.

THIRD P.S. MATCH

Geelong College v. Caulfield Grammar School at Geelong College, 24th-25th February.

College won the toss and batted. In the early stages College batted solidly and at 4/150, seemed as though they might go on and make a substantial score. However, Caulfield's bowler, Morphet caused a collapse of the middle-order batsmen with his left arm spinners.

Geoff Oman played an excellent captain's innings to remain 96 not out including 11 fours. This brought his average up to an outstanding 155. College finished their innings with 198 in which Marendaz also batted well to make 45.

Caulfield batted very slowly on the Saturday morning with Eastman continuing his innings and going on to make a slow but valuable 77. Later in the afternoon College broke through the middle-order batsmen and had Caulfield on the defensive at a score of 8/197. But the tail-end batsmen of Caulfield held on for a good last wicket partnership to finish their innings at 223.

Oman also took the bowling honours for College. He took 3 wickets for 20 runs off 17 overs with 8 maidens.

FOURTH P.S. MATCH

Geelong College v. Melbourne Grammar School at Melbourne Grammar, 10th-11th March.

Melbourne Grammar won the toss and batted in ideal conditions on an excellent pitch. Pettifer and Stark started very brightly, putting on 38 runs in better than even time. It looked as though Melbourne Grammar were set for a good score when four wickets fell without addition to the total. This sensational turn of events was the result of excellent keeping by Barkley and inspired bowling by Oman and Morrison. Melbourne Grammar were unable to recover from this setback despite a stubborn partnership of 63 by Galbraith and Lovely. Williamson, ably supporting Morrison, dismissed the tail-enders with his leg spinners.

College batted for 65 minutes on Friday evening and although the opening pair was dismissed cheaply, Oman and Barkley batted aggressively which laid the foundation for College's eventual victory.

Geelong College resumed batting on Saturday with conditions perfect for cricket. Early in the morning the College batsmen were finding it hard to score runs as the Melbourne Grammar School bowlers and fieldsmen were on top. Oman was out leg before for 41 when he tried to sweep a ball. Williamson joined Barkley and batted aggressively. Barkley was leg before to Lovely for 34. Morrison joined Williamson at the crease and they paved the way for a College victory. Geelong College passed Melbourne Grammar's 130 when Morrison drove the ball for four runs. Both batsmen lost their wickets just before lunch through impatience; Morrison for 26 and Williamson for a well compiled 46 which was top score. Apart from Sheringham the tail-enders offered little opposition and College were all out for 200 runs shortly after lunch. Blandford was the most successful Melbourne Grammar bowler with 4/65.

The Melbourne Grammar opening batsmen put up a sizeable score, although several run-outs should have been effected. Pettifer, in fact, was run out for 47. By this time there was little interest left in the match. A fine innings by Whittakers was terminated when he was caught by Marendaz off Morrison only six runs short of a century. At stumps Melbourne Grammar School were 5/197. Geelong College had performed very creditably in defeating Melbourne Grammar on the first innings by 70 runs.

FIFTH P.S. MATCH

Geelong College v. Carey Baptist Grammar School at Carey, 17th-18th March.

Geoff Oman won the toss and elected to bat on a perfect batting wicket. Keith and Marendaz opened briskly with the large gathering of boys appreciating the scoring strokes. However on the last balls of the first and second overs, both Marendaz and Keith were dismissed. The score was 2/8 when Barkley and Oman came together to save the innings. Both batted with sureness and played some fine strokes, the score reaching 50 in 60 minutes. Barkley survived two confident appeals whilst on 48, but later cut a ball for 3 to reach his 50. Barkley was caught behind soon afterwards, the partnership being worth 89. Williamson joined Oman, and it looked as if they would continue to amass a large score. Whilst running a brisk single, Oman was run out for 49. Sheringham joined Williamson who reached his 50 after a misfield at fine leg which went for 4. About an hour before stumps Sheringham retired hurt, and Costin joined Williamson. The 200 came up in 225 minutes. After Costin was bowled, David came in as night watchman and lasted out some anxious moments. At stumps the score stood at 5/222. On Saturday morning the tailend batsmen went cheaply to accurate bowling by Carey's Yallop, Williamson making a fine unbeaten 84. College had made 253, and this looked like a winning total.

The wicket was playing truly on Saturday morning, and Carey's openers Freeman and Glenn gave Carey a fine start. Oman eventually broke the partnership which yielded 92 runs. Carey's batsmen batted with a great deal of concentration and discipline, and waited for the loose ball to come before risking hard strokes. With Carey's score at 4/232 it looked as though they would easily pass the College total. Costin was brought on and immediately penetrated the batsmen's weaknesses. Carey fell to 6/235 when a number of chances were missed at the time when they were really struggling. The College fielding cracked under the severe pressure, and Carey passed the 253 with four wickets intact. At stumps Carey had made 9/347, Hutchins reaching 93 before being finally caught behind. Phillip Marendaz, who kept wickets because David Barkley was unable to keep, did a remarkable job and young Holland fielding as substitute also did a good job. The College side put up a very creditable performance despite the Vice-Captain Alex Morrison being unable to play at all, and Barkley and Sheringham not being able to take the field on Saturday.

SIXTH P.S. MATCH

Geelong College v. Haileybury College at Haileybury, March 31st-April 1st.

Geoff Oman won the toss and elected to bat. Owing to rain, the outfield was very wet and slow, but the pitch had been covered and was in reasonable condition. Marendaz and Keith, the College openers, got off to a poor start with the first wicket falling before any runs had been scored. However, with Keith batting stubbornly and Oman in his usual brilliant style, the score moved to 25 before the second wicket fell. Barkley and then Williamson joined Oman at the crease, but their respective stays were short and the College score fell to 4/28. Partnerships by Oman with Morrison and Sheringham helped to restore College's confidence. Oman was caught after making an extremely valuable 44. At stumps, College were 8/100.

Johnstone and Barr resumed the next morning, but although Johnstone compiled 22 not out, College were quickly dismissed for 109.

Haileybury went in to bat and were in difficulties from the outset. The three bowlers used, Oman, Costin and Morrison, all bowled accurately, but it was Oman with his left arm swing bowling who cut through the Haileybury defence. He bowled for the entire innings and finished with 7/20.

Marendaz and Keith opened the College second innings with a fine partnership of 47. Marendaz was dismissed, but Keith carried on to top score with 32. Oman and Barkley took the score on to 3/93 when Oman declared the innings closed.

Set 157 runs in 110 minutes to win, Haileybury started off recklessly. Some good fielding by the College team, and the wicket-keeping of Sheringham resulted in four run-outs. The last four batsmen played out time to finish with 7/102.

College therefore won on the first innings by 63 runs.

TENNIS

Master-in-Charge: M. B. Keary, Esq.

Captain: I. P. Torode.

The facilities for tennis have been improved this year by the completion of one new court at Mossgiel. In addition, we have the use of St. David's courts for two afternoons a week instead of only one, as last year; for this we are very grateful to the St. David's Tennis Club. Despite this, however, we again had more boys wanting to play tennis than could be accommodated on our limited court space, and so several boys had to return to other sports. Interest in tennis as a sport is increasing and this is shown by the greater number of teams which played matches during the term.

Mr. Chislett again coached the First Tennis Team; the Seconds, Thirds and Under-age teams were coached by Mr. Keary, assisted by Mr. Baker. Those who played tennis owe a great deal of the enjoyment they derived from the sport to work put in by Mr. Keary in organizing the matches for all the teams. The Tennis Committee for this year consists of: Torode I. P. (Captain), Anderson S. M. (Vice-Captain), Anderson B. N., Dickson J. W. M., Hobday R. J., and Williamson G. R.

We once again played several matches with the Hermitage and Morongo, which were most entertaining and enjoyable. The success of

34—THE PEGASUS,

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

At our first assembly for the year, we welcomed four new members to the teaching staff: Mr. D. D. W. Cameron from Toowoomba Boys' School, Mr. D. H. Pearce from the Victorian Education Department, Mr. D. A. Timmins from the John Connan and Cathedral School Bombay, and Mr. P. J. Woods from Benalla Technical School.

Mr. Cameron was appointed Housemaster of Rolland House which has a record number of boarders (seventy-seven). He is also Form Master of IF Form and Master in Charge of Science. Mr. Pearce is Form Master of 5C Form, master in charge of Debating, Junior Red Cross and active at cricket and football coaching. Mr. Timmins is Form Master of 2L Form and master in charge of Mathematics. Mr. Woods is Form Master of IH Form and active at cricket and football coaching and in charge of the Gymnastics Club.

A very warm welcome home was given to Mr. B. F. Kemp who returned from his year of teaching and travelling in New Zealand. Mr. Kemp is Form Master of II Form, Art and Craft Master for the four First Forms and Master in Charge of all Outdoor Activities. Mr. N. N. Rachinger has accepted responsibility as Director of Studies as well as being Form Master of 2J Form and Warden of the Guild Hall.

Word from Mr. Wardle and Mr. Hatton indicates that they are having most interesting experiences in England and on the continent, while Mr. Roland has made a pleasant beginning in his teaching activity at Clifton Prep School, Durban, South Africa.

The Women's Auxiliary has been very active under the leadership of Mrs. Lucas. On March 7th the Parents' Night again proved to be a very pleasant occasion. The Robertson Hall was filled to capacity and members of staff were introduced to the parents before going to the form rooms, where form teachers met the parents. Supper was served in the Dining Hall.

The Easter Service was held in St. David's Church. The College Chaplain, Rev. J. D. Martin, gave the address and the lessons were read by the Principal and by the Headmaster of the Prep School. The Chaplain of the Prep School, Rev. A. J. McAdam, conducted the service and the choir was directed by Mr. Newnham.

On Anzac Day Mr. Duell, Acting President of Legacy in Geelong, was Guest Speaker. Miss Dickinson has visited the school and spoken to us about Red Cross. Clubs and activities have been very active. The Adventurers have negotiated the Barwon River right to Barwon Heads, a chess team has played matches at Geelong Grammar School, Debating, Scrabble, Junior Red Cross, Drama, Choir and Gymnastics have been enjoyed.

Social Service activity is in full swing under Mr. McAdam's leadership. Cricket and swimming and tennis activity has been as busy and as successful as ever. The Prep News has been published—a very good edition indeed. The School Representatives D. Hutton, P. Young, P. Crockett, B. Martin, G. Lindquist and P. Longden were inducted by the Principal.

Lawn tennis courts and other ground improvements have added to the outdoor beauty of the new site.

Mr. Millard has brought us much pleasure with his choice of good films.

Almost immediately after his arrival home from his Test Cricket success in South Africa, Ian Redpath was at the Prep giving coaching to young Collegians. Here he is talking with P. Crockett, B. Martin and J. Finlay, who were active in the Under 12 and Under 13, Prep Teams.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

Principal, distinguished guests, members of staff, boys of the school, ladies and gentlemen:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I welcome Mr. L. M. Whyte, Mr. K. W. Nicolson and Mr. D. B. Ramage to our school today. They have graciously consented to be our Guests of Honour at this forty-sixth Speech Day of The Geelong College Preparatory School.

Mr. D. B. Ramage attended the College from 1951-57 and was a member of the College crew which won the 1956 and the 1957 Head-of-the-River. On leaving school he joined with three other Old Collegians in a senior four coached by Mr. Albert Bell. This crew won more than thirty-five major events including one Australian and three Victorian Championships. It was selected to represent Australia in the world titles in Switzerland in 1962 and in that year also won a silver medal at the Commonwealth Games in Perth. In 1963, Mr. Ramage rowed with the victorious King's Cup Crew: in 1964 he represented Australia at the Olympic Games in Tokyo; in 1965 and 1966 he was again in winning King's Cup Crews and he has recently returned from representing Australia in the U.S.A. and in Yugoslavia at the world rowing championships—at which his crew performed most creditably. There is no sport more demanding than rowing. For years Mr. David Ramage has been engaged in long hours of preparation and disciplined team training. Little publicity and little public support is given to this international sport but we are proud to have an old Prep, boy of such standing to present our sports prizes.

Mr. L. M. Whyte attended The College from 1900-1908 when Mr. Norman Morrison was the Principal. Mr. Whyte has seen many changes during his long association with the school, including the recent development of the Preparatory School on this magnificent site—once part of his extensive property. Mr. Whyte was here quite recently for our Arbor Day celebrations and together with Mrs. Whyte takes a good deal of interest in our progress. We are delighted that he has consented to be present at our Speech Day to assist in the presentation of the school prizes.

Mr. K. W. Nicolson was appointed first Headmaster of the Preparatory School in 1921, by the Reverend F. W. Rolland. During the first busy seven years of its existence he continued as its Headmaster, following which he left for overseas experience in England, returning later to serve at the Senior School. Tomorrow Mr. Nicolson will retire after 46 years association with the College. He has been well known as an outstanding footballer and cricketer, and as a performer and producer with the Geelong Repertory Society. But of course he is most widely known as a master of The Geelong College and today we honour him for his long years of wonderful service to the School. We invite him to present the form prizes and to address the boys—and we hope that he passes a critical eye upon us realizing that he it was who first launched us into orbit.

Nineteen-sixty-six has been a busy year and a year of sound achievement at work and at play. I do not intend to review the school's activities at any length. There has been quite a good coverage of these happenings in the two editions of Pegasus and the three editions of the Prep. News as well as in the College Parent newsletter. To begin this year's report I would like to express to the members of staff—teaching, domestic, medical, maintenance, and grounds staff—my deep appreciation for their loyal and dedicated service. It makes such a difference when we have cleaners who take a real pride in keeping the school so clean and inviting: when a maintenance staff is not content with just maintaining equipment and buildings in good condition but is busy skilfully improving on our facilities: when a ground staff is only satisfied with the very best in playing fields and in outdoor improvements: when the teaching staff is prepared for full involvement in the moulding of the lives of the boys in their care, not motivated by some limited academic objectives but with a full sense of the importance of developing the whole personality of a boy. This sense of pride in the school is of course shared by the boys. To them I express my pleasure for the enthusiasm and ready co-operation that is so much in evidence. To the ever widening circle of parents, Old Collegians and friends I express gratitude for kindly encouragement and strong support. Today our school consists of 336 boys (51 are members of Campbell House and 73 are boarders in Rolland House) and these boys are taught by a staff of nineteen teachers. No form numbers more than 28 boys and the average is 24 boys to a form. Equal opportunity is given to each boy. Form teaching is based on individualised instruction whereby boys advance at their own maximum pace in the various subjects. New equipment added during this year includes the I.M.P. (Mathematics Program) which caters for individual differences in pace and ability. The comprehensive syllabus in operation here is designed to give breadth, rather than depth in the subjects: we endeavour to give a broad base to education, sufficiently sound for every likely development in later life. An accurate academic classification is given which enables the boy entering Senior School to be channelled into the correct academic group and receive an appropriate course of study commensurate with the boy's ability. We have discontinued giving a position in form on the term report and instead give an overall percentage and academic grading. The reason for this is to emphasize the individual's standard of effort and his standard of attainment rather than comparing him to other boys. Here may I re-iterate my deep concern for the eighty per cent of boys who are not academics. To imagine that they are not as important nor as able as the academic is sheer nonsense—yet our professions, business houses, trades—indeed all walks of life, seem strangely obsessed with gaining academics and are not properly catering for the splendid sound citizens of normal academic ability who possess varied abilities and skills and fine qualities. I believe our school has a right to serve these boys fully and adequately: granted, we must give every opportunity and every encouragement to the academic at the same time.

To the seventy-five boys of Second Form we say goodbye. They go on to Senior School with our best wishes. We are sure that, just as they have grown in experience and knowledge in the junior school, they will enjoy with increasing vigour the challenge and the satisfaction of the senior school program. In some of our forms this year boys have reached a higher standard than ever before in music, in tennis, in academic work, in swimming, in drama and in athletics. They have not come under too much notice for this, but rather have we admired their modesty and their diligent application and their proper interchange of friendship with boys of less ability, yet their equals in integrity and loyalty and leadership. A proper balance in the development of body, mind and spirit is so important.

Each year we seem to have our share of sorrow. A year ago we referred to the passing of Sir Francis Rolland who had so much to do with the early life of this junior school. Today we honour the memory of one of his closest friends, Mr. L. J. Campbell, Headmaster of this Preparatory School for 32 years. Since his retirement Mr. Campbell had been in close touch with us and with our activities—always ready to write a note of appreciation to the editors of the Prep. News about their latest edition or to express his pleasure for the T.V. set the school presented to him. Quite often he had discussed with me probable developments, quick to size up a situation and give wise counsel and kindly encouragement. He had been delighted at the growth of these three Campbell Gums he planted in this lawn behind me and ever keen to talk of these boys who always remained his first love. His passing came without warning while he was quietly enjoying a T.V. program and as we pay him homage today we recall his dedicated service over many long years, his sterling qualities of heart and mind, the wonderful influence he shed upon his school. With affection and with pride we honour him.

This year there have been four Prep, homes saddened by the sudden loss of a beloved husband and father. The whole school community has been shocked by these tragedies; yet we have gained strength in time of tribulation and we have noted with much satisfaction the fortitude of our young Collegians.

The boys of Rolland House appear to be in fine fettle. There has been a little illness during the year, otherwise it has been a very satisfactory year in every way. Our thanks go to Miss Grenfell, to Sister Bartlett and to Sister Skene for their kindly interest and effective service: to Doctor Morris for his watchful care: to Mrs. Cloke and the members of her staff who serve us so capably: to Mr. Rolland and his resident staff for their competent, friendly management. Mr. Hatton has come regularly to show films and help with outdoor activity: Mr. McAdam has led a Rolland House Church Service in each term as well as the regular Sunday School classes: the boys who are members of the House Committee have helped to set a splendid tone in the boarding house. I notice that courtesy, friendliness and goodwill do abound within the House as well as at their picnics, river activity, Guy Fawkes celebrations, trampolining, golfing, adventuring After three splendid years of Housemastering Mr. Roland has accepted appointment to the Clifton Preparatory School, Durban, South Africa. We express gratitude to him for all that he has accomplished here and our very best wishes go with him and his wife and family as they prepare to leave us. Mr. Roland represents a long association with The Geelong College and we are going to sorely miss him as a good companion, a fine sportsman and scholar, a capable teacher and a splendid Housemaster. Mr. G. F. Smith also leaves us today to take up an appointment at Scotch College, Melbourne, and we express sincere appreciation and good wishes to him, too.

I have so much enjoyed my weekly visit to Campbell House. The boys there have maintained very high standards due to the splendid work of Mrs. Sweetman, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Wight. As Mrs. Wight leaves us we express our congratulations and gratitude for her excellent service. Even Arbor Day reached to Campbell House this year when Mrs. D. D. Davey joined with the staff in planting a number of Australian trees. At the Campbell House Speech Day, Mrs. E. B. Lester was to be the Guest of Honour and I would like to record here a tribute to the long years of service given by her distinguished husband and herself to The Geelong College. In her absence The College Chaplain presented the prizes.

This year Educational Excursions have provided a good deal of interest for staff and boys. "Harrierville" involved all the boys of Second Form during one working week in October. Despite a wet day cancelling out the Alpine Climb of Mt. Feathertop, Mr. Wardle and his three staff members were pleased with the boys response to the varied excursions and with the excellent project books.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatton journeyed to Ivanhoe, N.S.W., with eleven boys of First Form. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Waugh accommodated the party at their station property at Barney's Lake and arranged a very interesting introduction to station life for these young city dwellers. Those two weeks proved to be a worthwhile educational adventure.

Seven members of staff travelled to St. Peters, Adelaide for the Biennial Junior Schools' Refresher Course held during the August vacation. Excellent lectures and workshop sessions helped to keep us abreast of latest trends in Educational practice while the coming together of more than two hundred school teachers drawn from the Independent Schools of Australia brings its own special stimulus to staff members.

Several members of staff have also attended seminars at Mercer House, at Ballarat Grammar School, at Geelong Teachers' College and at the Geelong High School; while we have continued to promote meetings of the Geelong Junior Schools' Discussion Group. Members of our staff have been active in service clubs and with the New Education Fellowship.

The installation of an amplifying unit and musical equipment in the Robertson Hall has been of great advantage, as well as the arrival of a Grand Piano from Morrison Hall. Robertson Hall has been put to much greater use during the extensions to Morrison Hall. It has continued to serve well the musical forces of the Prep, under Mr. Newnham's direction. This has been a specially musical year. The choirs and instrumentalists have been much to the fore and we congratulate Mr. Newnham on the great activity, the enjoyment and development attained.

Musical highlights included the Inter School Choir Festival held in the Memorial Hall at Scotch College where we joined with Scotch, Haileybury, Carey, Brighton Grammar and Xavier College. Our Choir, with Mr. Heagney at the organ, presented Kyrie and Agnus Dei from Missa Brevis by Britten. The Australian Broadcasting Commission featured our Choir in a recording for their "Children of the World in a Circle" program being broadcast in Japan. Fifty of our boys combined with choirs from Morongo and Senior School in the presentation of Saint Nicolas in St. George's Church. The Easter Service and The Carol Service were both important school events in which the Choir was featured.

On behalf of the school I express sincere thanks to Mr. Thewlis for the gift of plastic covers for use at the trampoline; to Mr. Wishart, Mr. Herd, Mr. Hyett and their helpers for the splendid score board and seating being used at the oval; to Mr. Vickers-Willis for the great improvements at the tennis court area; to Mr. Trethowan for the gift of a tennis racquet as a memorial prize in memory of Mr. Ross Quick—such a well known College sportsman. The prize given for leadership in Rolland House will be known henceforth as the L. J. Campbell Memorial Prize. The Housemaster of Rolland House will choose the boy he considers to have been the most helpful leader and best citizen for the year: a very difficult choice because of the keen involvement of nearly all of the senior boys in the House.

In the coming year we will build another fine addition to the impressive buildings. The Science Laboratory is on the drawing boards at the moment and during next year the two storeyed building will take shape at the north east corner of this quadrangle. This will stimulate both teachers and boys to keener scientific investigation at this level.

Another exciting development is the introduction next year of a Language Laboratory and with it a new approach to languages in the First and Second Forms. The first forms and second forms will all begin French through this new approach. Mr. D. D. Davey, Vice-Principal of The Geelong College looked closely into the use of these techniques overseas and he has been encouraged by The College Council to introduce this important new development into our College—to begin firstly with The Preparatory School at the commencement of 1967. New members of staff have also been appointed for next year and it would appear that we will have a most competent team of teachers involved here at the junior school. We look forward to welcoming Mr. Kemp and Mrs. Kemp and family home after a year in New Zealand.

The College Council has resolved to make a special effort to meet the increasing demand for boarders at the Preparatory School by accepting in 1967 an extra ten boys at our First Form level. These boys will be accommodated at Senior School but will have their meals and spend their full working day here with us—sharing the fellowship and facilities of Rolland House. In the new year we thus will have four First Forms for the first time with 23 or 24 boys in each. This trend may indicate a need in the coming years for two separate boarding houses to serve the Prep.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wardle and family and to Mr. and Mrs. Hatton we say au revoir as they leave us for overseas travel and educational experience. We hope to keep in touch with them during next year's "adventuring" and of course we will be counting the days until they return to our midst. To Mrs. Pavia and to Mrs. Lucas, we express warm appreciation for their capable leadership of the Campbell House and Prep. School Women's Auxiliaries. We also express our gratitude to a number of visiting speakers who came to our Morning Assemblies. Our boys have once again responded to the Social Service projects with great enthusiasm and they have donated more than seven hundred dollars to the various charities. In drama too they have been as busy and as successful as ever before.

Sir Alexander Todd, the eminent Cambridge professor has said that it is not the function of a school to train specialists but rather to effectively open the eyes of students. There are of course innumerable ways of doing this! Perhaps you will allow me to mention just one homely example. In a lesson involving the youngest boys I found myself in deep consultation beneath a large pine tree planted many years ago by Mr. Whyte's father. The boys soon discovered that the pine cones were opening and shedding their nuts: they found some of the nuts were opening too and that the kernels were tasty: and they also decided to see if some would grow.

Imagine their excitement and pleasure some time later, when these seeds stretched out green fingers and tiny feet to begin the miracle of life and beauty that is called a pine tree. Those young boys realize now that a pine cone has a specific secret; and I think they sense something of the wonder of growth and development. Perhaps they already even feel a little of their own possibilities for life and beauty—if they but have the ability of a pine seed to depend absolutely on their Creator. In this Church School I believe we are watching the education of the spirit, the emotions and the tastes as well as the education of the body and the mind. I believe our eyes are being opened to look to Him and to recognize His Presence here.

And now to you, one and all, I wish a very happy Christmas.

THE CONIFER

Aloof the ascending, majestic, moss-covered conifer stands;
 Eddying winds carry pine cones and needles
 from its aged but sturdy limbs;
 A fresh smell of sap seeps through the morning air;
 And the green grass around is covered with dew.

FIRE

Terrifying, flickering flames leapt high into the night air, as the trembling animals scur-ried along to find and make use of any available shelter. The perspiring, battling firemen worked vigorously to kill the leaping fire as it devoured everything and forced through the bushes and scrub.

As the curling smoke coiled upward, the growing smell of burning box-wood filled the atmosphere. The fragrant smell of gum-leaves vanished as the devil-like fire churned away at tree and grass.

42—THE PEGASUS,

ANIMAL FRIENDS

I like all animals but best of all I like my two animal friends Sandy and Chrissy. Sandy is a Labrador dog, who is nearly nine years old, which is one year older than I am. When I was a baby, Sandy would guard me and would say "Gr-r-r" when any stranger touched me. We have such fun together. Chrissy is a tabby kitten. Daddy saved him from being run over by a car and brought him home. Sandy did not like Chrissy for a long time and would not eat, but now they are very good friends and play together. One day Chrissy was sick and Sandy cried. Now they sleep together.

MUSTANG

Standing in regal elegance,
 A picture of ebony beauty,
 Glossy,
 Sleek;
 Pausing, shining in summer sun
 It poises,
 Stiffened, senses alert;
 Then, mane flowing, head tossing, tail streaming in its wake,
 It thunders away.

Robert Doyle, 2L.

THE SUNSET

The fiery red sunset illuminated the dark sky with colours unimaginable to any human being. The colours of the sky reflected magnificently on the emerald sea. The waves pounded on the sandy shore like a thousand drummers beating unceasingly. One dedicated surfer was attempting to manage one or two more rides before darkness crept over the land. As he streaked across a brilliantly lit wave exerting complete control over his frothy giant he was in perfect silhouette. Then all went dead.

John Finlay, IF.

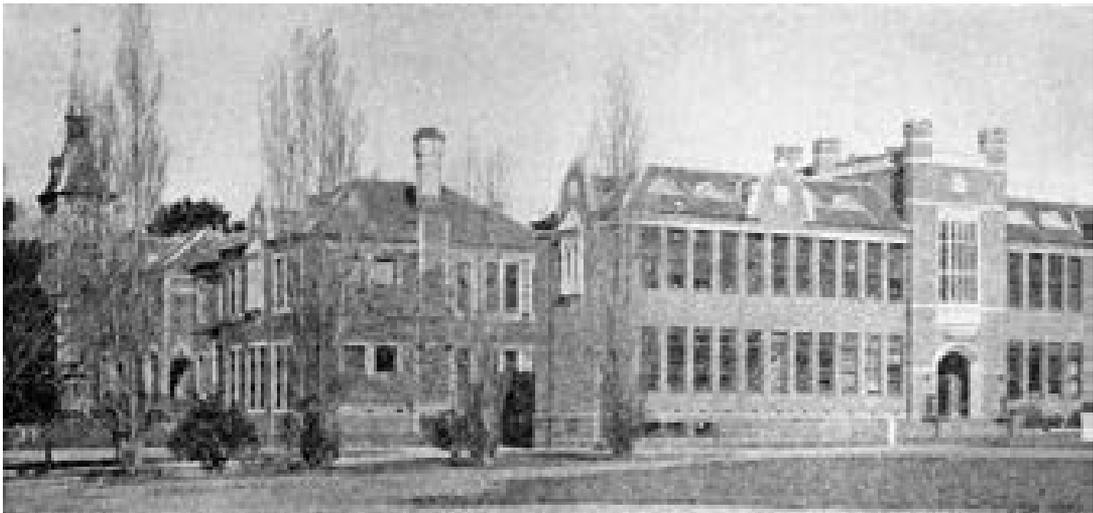

THE RESTLESS SEA

It swelled like a devouring monster
 When the lightning struck,
 And the thunder roared
 A rumbling song of death.
 It pounded against the jagged cliff face
 With back-breaking force;
 Foam, surging and spluttering,
 Dancing on its surface like pygmy white-horses.
 Suddenly,
 Unbearable stillness tyrannized the restless monster.
 Again, silence was bestowed to
 This mysterious world of the deep.

PEGASUS AND AD ASTRA

The function of Pegasus and Ad Astra has been under discussion by the General Committee for some considerable time.

With the introduction of Ad Astra, as an official publication carrying most of the more detailed news of Association activities, the content of Association news in Pegasus has been greatly reduced. It will therefore contain, in general, only brief accounts of official functions or other information which should be recorded in a permanent form.

Furthermore, your committee has been very concerned at the ever increasing cost of producing Pegasus.

It has been decided that as from December 1967 it will be sent only to the following:—

- (i) Life Members.
- (ii) Other Financial Members (i.e. contributors to the College Building Fund),
- (iii) Old Collegians who left the College during the previous two years,
- (iv) Old Collegians who specifically ask for it on the reply slip which they will find enclosed in the front page of this issue of Pegasus.

From the numerous reports which have been received concerning Ad Astra and its presentation, it is evident that the large majority of members appreciate this magazine and the news which it conveys.

Consequently this publication will continue to be sent to all Old Collegians.

P.S. REMEMBER TO COMPLETE THE SLIP IN THE FRONT OF THIS ISSUE AND RETURN IT TO THE O.G.C.A. OFFICE IMMEDIATELY.

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

The Alumni Executive Committee, under the Chairmanship of Mr. Gordon Murray, has had frequent meetings to plan the programme for 1967. Mr. Gary Bent (1951) and Mr. Graeme Pearce (1953) have joined the Committee.

The Year Chairmen have also held two very successful conferences at the College, at which they discussed the programme submitted by the Alumni Committee.

At their first meeting, they were addressed by the following members of the College Council: Mr. K. S. Nail—Planning for the future; Mr. P. N. Everist—Future buildings; Mr. G. J. Betts—Some financial aspects of our long range building commitments.

The annual programme consisted of three separate mailings in each of which Old Collegians were asked for their financial support for the Rolland Memorial Centre. So far the response has been encouraging. Already, over 558 Old Collegians have contributed this year and no less than 238 of these are new donors.

So that Regional Branches could also be given the opportunity to assist in the planning of the Annual Programme, Branch Presidents were invited to a conference on the 24th June in the Preparatory School, when the year's programme was outlined to them and their suggestions for its implementation called for.

Eight Year Group reunions have been held or arranged for this year and the committee is confident that many other Year Chairmen will be making similar arrangements before the end of the year.

The Committee sincerely thanks all those who have so kindly responded to their appeal.

SPORT

HOCKEY CLUB

Another Old Geelong Collegians sporting body is in action. For some years, Collegians have enjoyed a fair measure of success in the Geelong Hockey Association Schools Competition. As a natural outcome, Old Collegians, together with Old Boys from the other Geelong Schools, formed a series of teams who play in a regular Saturday afternoon competition. The Old Geelong Collegians Hockey Club was formally approved, therefore, by the General Committee at a meeting on Tuesday, 28th February, 1967.

We wish our Club's first President, Mr. Bruce Hope, every success in this new venture.

GOLF

A Public Schools Old Boys Golf Day has been arranged at the Geelong Golf Club on Tuesday 8th August, from 1 p.m. onwards. Those who are interested in playing are asked to contact Mr. Ben Davis (Telephone Geelong 74705) or the Executive Officer at the O.G.C.A. office (Telephone 211939).

REUNIONS

The Annual Reunion of the Sydney Branch was held at the Australia Hotel on Friday, 2nd June.

The President, Leslie Reid, welcomed thirty members, who covered a wide period of experience of the College ranging from Angus Waugh (1915) to Jim McKindlay (1959). Special guests of the branch were the Rev. S. W. Kurrle, Headmaster of Kings School Paramatta, and Mr. D. D. Davey, Vice Principal of the College.

The toast of the College was proposed by Mr. Kurrle, and Mr. Davey responded. A recording of the final of the 100th Head of the River (1967) was played after which Mr. Davey spoke of recent developments at the College and showed a number of slides of College staff and buildings and also schools seen during his recent overseas visit.

YEAR GROUPS

The 1938, 1939, and 1940 Year Groups are combining to hold a reunion at "Aberdeen House", Geelong, on Saturday 22nd July. All members of these Year Groups who wish to attend the reunion, but have not yet notified their Year Chairman, are asked to do so as soon as possible.

BOAT RACE BALL

The President of the Association, Mr. Eric Cook, and Mrs. Cook welcomed over 450 Old Collegians and their guests to the traditional Boat Race Ball at the Palais Royal, Geelong, on the eve of the 100th Head of the River.

The ball was voted by many as the most successful ever held and for this we must thank David Jarman and his Committee for their excellent organisation. Our thanks are also due to the ladies who kindly spent so much time decorating the hall with flowers.

ROYAL HONOURS

Councillor ROY FIDGE, who was created a Knight at the New Year, has a formidable record of community service, a prominent feature being his five years as Mayor of the City of Geelong. He attended the College in 1922-3.

SPEECH DAY

Speech Day was held on Thursday, 8th December. Sir Arthur Coles was in the chair, and the prizes were presented by A. Dunbavin Butcher, Esq., M.Sc, Director, Fisheries and Wildlife, Victoria, and E. G. Cook, Esq., President of The Old Geelong Collegians' Association.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Butcher, Mr. Cook, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Upon this corresponding day last year, many of you gathered here on this same lawn, looking up at this earliest part of the buildings of the College, with the date 1871 cut into the stonework above the entrance there, and in the shadow of the Morrison Hall, unchanged since it was built in 1911 for approximately £3,000. Today, as I present to you the 106th Annual Report of The Geelong College, I am delighted that you can be seated once again in an environment which, in essence, is the same, but yet in one important aspect, different. For it is of this gradual adjustment of the environment to the changing needs of each new age and generation that I wish chiefly to speak this afternoon.

This is a theme which should have the sympathy and understanding of at least one of my listeners, namely our distinguished visitor, Mr. Alfred Dunbavin Butcher, M.Sc, Director of Fisheries and Wildlife for Victoria, and one of our more eminent Old Collegians. Whether or not he would be prepared to classify schoolboys as Wildlife, I know he has just returned from a study tour overseas chiefly concerned with the problems of creating and preserving the environment in which man and nature can best live in harmony. It is an honour and a pleasure to welcome him, and his wife, to the College, and to ask him in due course to present the academic prizes and speak to the boys. As is our usual custom, we have again invited the President of the Old Collegians, this time Mr. Eric Cook, to present the sports trophies. He and Mrs. Cook are always welcome visitors.

As you no doubt recognize, a very large part of the work of any Headmaster and any School Council is in establishing the environment in which boys may best develop to their full stature. This development is, of course, of many sorts, and the environment must take account of all these various aspects of personality. All those associated with the College should give thanks for the early recognition, so forcefully restated and acted upon by Frank Holland, that the physical environment, the beauty of the buildings and the grounds, has an unconscious but profound influence upon the personality of a growing boy. But this element of beauty and style, which I hope we can always retain in future buildings is only one aspect of environment; in addition, there are the physical living conditions, catering for the fundamental needs of sleeping, eating, relaxing, health; there is the social organization and variety of social situations and experiences, which shape the nature of the inter-personal relations within the school community; and finally there is the whole climate of ideas, to which each boy is subjected. Perhaps it would be helpful to comment, in turn, upon some of the developments which are taking place in each of these four areas. I propose to take them in reverse order.

First, then, what of the "climate of ideas"? The great virtue of an established school such as this is that each generation inherits from the past a wonderful legacy of traditions and standards upon which to build. But the structure which is built upon this firm foundation must be subject to continual adjustment, and the chief agents in this process are the members of the teaching staff.

As a school grows in size and complexity, and requires a larger staff, one of the basic problems becomes that of communication, to meet the need for each man's contribution to be known to, and understood by, every other member of staff, and for staff and boys all to gain the best value from the talents available. I believe we have made good progress in this area of communication over recent years. For example, we now keep more accurate and complete records of each boy's progress: then there is a weekly meeting of the six Housemasters with myself and the Vice-Principal, the Chaplain and the Master-in-Charge of the Third Forms: there is a similar weekly meeting of Senior Subject masters. I consult daily with the Vice-Principal and Bursar, and once a week I visit the Preparatory School and spend some time with the Headmaster there. The School Prefects lunch together with me three or four days a week. And on a more informal note, any visitor to the Common Room at recess time any morning cannot fail to be impressed by the tremendous number of urgent conferences that are taking place between two or three masters, or masters and boys. It is in this sort of way that the "climate of ideas" is set.

At the end of each year we must face some changes in the staff concerned. Today four men complete their work at the Senior School, and most notable amongst them is Mr. Ken Nicolson, who has now reached retiring age after serving the College in a great variety of ways since Frank Rolland appointed him first Headmaster of the new Preparatory School in 1921. The details of his remarkable career are recorded elsewhere. It is perhaps enough to say here that, quite apart from his great contribution in teaching, in cricket and football, in dramatics, and in many other particular areas, he has always been the sort of man whom boys could learn to love and respect, and whose colleagues admired for his gentlemanly kindness. There will be many good wishes to him and Mrs. Nicolson for continuing years of happiness, when we hope to see them often at the College.

After two valuable years as Chaplain, the Rev. J. D. Bentley has reached the conclusion that he can best serve the Church in parish work, and has therefore resigned. His hard work and sympathetic understanding of the boys' point of view have made him many friends. Mr. Blank, who quickly established himself early this year, and has served us very well indeed as an excellent senior schoolmaster, has decided that he would prefer an appointment where he has more time for private study; and Mr. Hanna, after four terms of valuable service, has accepted an appointment in Melbourne.

It is distressing to have to report that there has been one other heavy loss to the senior staff. Mr. Brian Lester, who, since 1932, has been an outstanding Senior Mathematics Master, a devoted Master-in-Charge of Tennis, and an assiduous and effective Housemaster, was able to return to work, though not to teaching, towards the end of first term, but had later to return to hospital in Melbourne. Then after a further period at home he is now back in hospital in Geelong: he is really very ill, and it is too much to hope that he will ever be able to resume his former responsibilities. Our thoughts have been much with him and Mrs. Lester in their long period of trial.

Our new Chaplain is to be the Rev. J. D. Martin, B.A., who is already known to many members of the school community, as Minister of St. Andrew's, Geelong, and has been a very active Presbytery representative on the College Council. He and his wife will be most welcome in their even closer relationship with us. Other new appointments at the Senior School are Mr. D. W. P. McNeill, B.A., a geography specialist, from Queensland, Mr. B. M. McCarthy, from South Australia, who will have much to contribute in games and in the IIIrd and IVth forms; Mr. R. Salen, also from South Australia, who is an electrical engineer and will teach mathematics and science: and there is one other appointment pending for the senior Economics.

From the Preparatory School, we are losing Mr. Michael Roland, who has done so much in the last three years to help in the establishment of Rolland House in its new home; he is now returning to teach in South Africa: Mr. Graeme Smith is transferring to Scotch College: Mr. Bryan Wardle and Mr. Leslie Patton are both taking overseas leave: Mrs. Pam Wight is leaving Campbell House.

They have been replaced by Mr. D. A. Timmins, an experienced mathematics master from Bombay, Mr. D. D. W. Cameron, from Queensland, as the new Housemaster of Rolland House, and Mr. P. J. Woods, from Benalla. Mr. Brian Kemp returns from a year's leave in New Zealand.

Another change which occurred during the year was the retirement of Mrs. van Bergem, who had been a very effective matron of Mackie House for eleven years, and her replacement by Mrs. Ross Quick. It has given great pleasure to staff and boys to have Mrs. Quick again so closely associated with the life of the school.

These changes, and a number of other developments in our "climate of ideas", have led to some adjustments for 1967, to the responsibilities of men remaining with us. Mr. C. A. Bickford, who for many years has been Senior English Master and has done much to maintain and improve a high standard of interest in literature, in reading for pleasure, and in the more formal aspects of English expression, and who, more recently, has also been Sports Secretary, will become Master-in-Charge of the Third Forms. Mr. A. D. Mahar will become Senior English Master. Mr. R. B. Tattersall, who has been acting Senior Mathematics Master during Mr. Lester's absence, will now assume full responsibility for the department, and Mr. J. R. Hunter will continue for the time being to look after Shannon House, as he has been doing. During second term this year Mr. H. L. Dunkley was away on leave, and Mr. D. Webb will be away for some months of overseas leave during 1967. It is of great value to the school to have senior members of the staff exposed in this way to the new ideas and inspirations to be found in other parts of the world.

One of the strong impressions which I gained during my own trip overseas in 1965, and which I have now discussed at some length with the Council, is that there are very few schools outside Australia which are providing a suitable style of education for the academically less able boy. Such a boy is excluded altogether from many schools, in others he is provided with an unsuitably watered down academic course (and this is common in Australia), and in many places, he is provided for only in the non-academic streams of some very large school, of two to three thousand secondary students, where he often becomes lost as an individual. Our ideal, which we have not yet entirely achieved, is to design for him an educational diet which he can digest with pleasure, and which will allow him to develop his whole personality, whilst still remaining and feeling a full and acceptable member of a school community, which is small enough to be concerned with every individual as a person.

For this reason, I have decided to begin to set up next year what we will call a Department of General Studies, to concern itself particularly with the boys who would normally be placed in our C and D streams. The Director of this Department, who will have the status of a Senior Subject Master, will be concerned in 1967 for the most part with Third Form boys. In later years, the scope of the department will extend up through Fourth and Fifth Forms for those boys who are unlikely to proceed to matriculation or academic tertiary studies. I have asked Mr. Michael Stock to start off this work for us.

The impact of the "climate of ideas" upon the boys is, of course, hard to measure. Its most immediate results become evident chiefly in two ways—in the quality of academic work produced, and in the variety of interests for which boys show enthusiasm or concern. In this the leadership of the Sixth Form is paramount. In general, we have perhaps been a little disappointed this year in the level of intellectual initiative of some of the more able senior boys, though there have been many individuals, and in particular the School Prefects, who have been thoroughly responsible and helpful in every way. Indeed I have for the first time this year taken the unusual step of promoting, at our last Assembly this morning, two boys who have given exceptionally good service to the school community this year, to be School Prefects "Honoris Causa". They are Rene Harris, from Nauru, and Geoffrey Shanks.

The examination results in 1965 were sound, and indeed the best we have ever had, with the exception of those in 1964. We obtained at matriculation 17 first class honours, 16 Commonwealth Scholarships, and 3 College Entrance Scholarships, as against 28, 25 and 4 in 1964. Perhaps this year we can redress the balance.

One of the changes introduced this year has been the reserving of two afternoons each week, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., for non-sporting activities. Although this has undoubtedly made it more difficult to fit in some of our inter-house games, and has meant that the coaches of senior teams have had to plan their practices with great care, I am sure the gain has far outweighed the loss, because both the quality and quantity of our cultural activities have certainly risen. These included the play, "J.B.", the House Music Competition, St. Nicolas, the Band, and many more, described for you in "Pegasus". The arrangement has also made possible a number of new activities. The work at the House of Guilds has received a great boost. Many of these activities will gain a further transfusion of new life by the use next year of the new Morrison Hall.

So much then for that part of the environment which I have called the "climate of ideas". What now may be said of the social organization and variety of social experience? I believe that the reorganization of the House system which took place several years ago is now beginning to bear fruit in two obvious ways. In the positive sense, boys are beginning more and more to build up a feeling of loyalty and affection for their House, which is leading to many examples of initiative and innovation, the sure sign of a healthy community. For example Morrison House has recently decided to reorganize its recreation rooms, with marked success, strongly aided by the gift of a billiard table from one of the parents. Likewise, despite the generally accepted view that it is about time we seriously considered the rebuilding of Warrinn, I would be very surprised if any Warrinn boy has any doubt at all that Warrinn is quite the best House. And in the Day Houses there are many ideas for development, which are simply awaiting the long needed improvement in their physical accommodation.

On the other hand, the few boys with slack habits or anti-social tendencies, who will always exist in a community like this, are now quickly identified, and find themselves largely without influence or respect. The continuity of control by one Housemaster and the influence of their more reliable contemporaries, make it possible to do much to encourage such boys to learn the necessity of living in harmony with others. Much of this general improvement in attitude and morale must be credited to the hard work of the Housemasters, and the leadership of House Captains and House Prefects.

A valuable test of our social stability came about this year through the absence of nearly five months of the Vice-Principal, who traditionally has presided over the general discipline and good order of the College. Whilst we were certainly glad to see him back, I think all will agree that the school continued to run very happily and smoothly in his absence, largely through the care and hard work of the Housemasters, and of the acting Vice-

Principal, Mr. B. R. Keith. May I take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Keith in particular for his firm, kindly and diligent attention to many unfamiliar and often frustrating duties? Unfortunately he has been absent for these last few weeks undergoing a minor operation, from which we all wish him a speedy recovery.

But the House system is by no means the only form of social contact and experience. Indeed it is simply the background for almost every other part of the school life. Even Cadets, which I believe provide a valuable form of experience which boys might otherwise miss, is to be placed upon a House basis next year. This year a combination of the weather, Colonel Dunkley's absence, and perhaps inadequate assistance from the military authorities, made the Cadet programme rather disastrous, despite the good work of many of the Under Officers and N.C.O's. The work of the Band, which is better than ever before, was the one exception.

There have been many other forms of social experience this year. In May, a party of 26 footballers went to Perth. In August, there were no less than eight separate expeditions from the College, involving 206 boys altogether in addition to the 271 boys attending the annual Cadet Camp. It is to make these August excursions possible that we start our school year a week earlier than the Melbourne schools. Other groups have been arranged for these coming holidays. I believe this sort of outdoor living to be one of the most important things we do, and I am only sorry that there are some boys who always seem to prefer the greater comfort and sophistication of holiday resorts or city society to the more rugged and challenging experience of Australia's magnificent, less populated areas.

Within the school, under the direction of the Chaplain, the P.F.A. and the Social Service Committee have been very active, and have helped to focus attention on wider world issues. It is so easy to become preoccupied with our own affairs.

And, of course, the social value of participation in games has long been recognized. Our combination of a busy programme of inter-House games, with more serious inter-School contests, means that there are very few boys who are not called upon to learn and demonstrate the virtues of working in and for a team. This part of the life of the school is so well established that we are perhaps inclined to take for granted the tremendous amount of work which is put into it by people like Mr. Bickford, as Sports Secretary, the coaches of our many teams, and all those other members of staff who must assist in supervision. We were glad to welcome back Mr. Albert Bell as coach of the First Eight, and we should be grateful also for the continued support of Old Collegians, and others, in helping to provide coaching and equipment. Early this year we received as gifts from Old Collegians two new eights for the Rowing Club, and a group of parents have provided valuable additions to the sports equipment at the Preparatory School, including a new score board. An additional tennis court is in process of construction behind Mossiel, and will bring the number of first class courts available for inter-school tennis to the necessary minimum of four.

There is one other aspect of our social life which I consider most important, and that is our co-operation with Morongo. Apart from the small group of matriculation girls who attend College classes in mathematics, we have again joined forces in the production of the play, in various musical activities, in P.F.A. meetings, in tennis, and this year for the first time have had joint dancing classes, in addition to the usual school dances. I believe these purposeful meetings do much to create a sensible attitude between the boys and girls.

As far as the general living and working conditions within the school are concerned, we have certainly maintained our good standards this year, and have planned a number of further improvements for next year. It is a tribute to our Bursar, our Housekeeper, our maintenance, grounds, cleaning and domestic staff, and our boarding house matrons, that this is probably the cleanest school in Australia, and the boarders are probably the best fed of any in Australia. And it is likewise to the great credit of our medical staff that the general health and hygiene is maintained at such a high standard. Next year we will have available for the first time, as part of the Morrison Hall development, a day-boys' Common Room. The other additional space on the ground floor will be mainly used as an additional music classroom, and as a changing room for dramatic productions. We are about to start building a bicycle shed behind Mossiel for Warrinn boys.

Because of the heavy pressure for entry to Rolland House at first form level, we are next year accommodating ten extra Preparatory School boys in part of the house occupied for some years by Mr. Bickford; there were a number of boarders housed there during the 1950's. Mr. Bickford and his family are themselves moving to the house presently occupied by Mr. Nicolson, and the Mahar family will look after the ten extra boys at least during 1967. This is clearly a temporary arrangement only: the more permanent long-range plans can best be mentioned as I deal with the final aspect of our overall environment, namely that of buildings and grounds.

First, perhaps, I should comment about our enrolment. The total enrolment for 1966 has been 746, including 282 boarders. Our planned maximum capacity at present is 800, with 280 boarders. Unfortunately the two places where we would like to fit in extra boys are at the lower end of the Preparatory School, and at the upper end of the Senior School, and there are at present insufficient applicants to fill all places in these areas. The greatest pressure arises in the early years of secondary work. There will be an increase in our numbers at first form level next year, necessitating four classes, instead of the usual three.

It is the particular concern of the College Council to be careful stewards of the financial resources of the College, and to plan for the provision of the new buildings which are required from time to time. This year, at Council level, has been a particularly busy and productive one. Much of the work is done in committees. The Building Committee has been largely concerned with the work on the Morrison Hall, and the planning of the Science Block to be built at the Preparatory School next year.

The work on the Hall is not yet quite completed, so it will not be possible for you to make an inspection this afternoon. An opportunity will be given to all parents and friends to inspect the completed work on the 1st February next, and a more formal occasion is being planned for later in the term to express our appreciation to the many generous donors, who have made the project possible. This magnificent new asset is a tribute to the interest and support of the parents and well-wishers of the school, and particularly to the hard work of the Chairman of the Appeal, Mr. J. F. Strachan, and of the Follow-On Committee, Dr. J. W. Bishop, and all their helpers. I am sure you will agree with me in congratulating our Architect, Mr. Neil Everist, and the builders, D. A. Constructions, for the outstanding work they have done.

As a consequence of the valuable experience which both I and the Vice-Principal have now had overseas, the Council has set up a long-range Planning Committee, to consider our reports, to recommend the principles upon which the future development of the College should be based, and to suggest the order of priority in which the most urgent needs may be met. The full Council has already adopted two important principles: firstly, that whatever may ultimately happen about the expansion of the College beyond the present planned maximum of 800, no move will be made in this direction until all aspects of the present school are raised to a first class standard: and secondly, that the enrolment policy should continue to be such as to accept into the school boys of as wide a variety of interests and academic abilities as is possible, so that the College remains a reflection of society as a whole, and not merely of some selected part of it.

A number of the more detailed recommendations has also been accepted. Among them is a recognition that we must press on as quickly as possible with better sports changing rooms (already planned for inclusion in the first stage of the Holland Centre, for which Old Collegians have begun to collect funds); more space for day-boys' common rooms (already planned for the ground floor of the Morrison Hall, when the old "Junior and Senior Dress" can be replaced); the rebuilding of Warrinn; the provision of adequate accommodation for married Housemasters, and other resident staff; and most importantly, the introduction of a number of new techniques and equipment to keep our teaching methods abreast of new ideas.

This last matter was the particular pre-occupation of Mr. Davey in his investigations. The full implications of the new ideas in this field are still being worked out, but it already seems clear that we must further expand our library as a general resource centre, including strip films, tape recordings, and the like: that we must provide sufficient additional classrooms to make it possible to have specialized "subject" rooms: that we must increase our use of electronic aids (a start will be made by the use of these techniques in the teaching of French next year) and that we must provide our teaching staff with the working conditions which will make the new developments fruitful.

As far as the grounds are concerned, I have only three comments to make. The first is to say again how fortunate we are to possess two such magnificent sites, and to remind you how well our grounds staff and gardeners look after them for us; the second is to tell you that we hope very shortly now to start work on the extension of the Junior oval here, by using some of the surplus soil for filling in this Morrison Hall area; and thirdly, I can now announce that we are negotiating for the purchase of some additional land adjacent to the Preparatory School to provide further for our playing field needs in years to come.

So you see, the Council has been working hard, and still has much to think about.

There have been two changes in the personnel of the Council this year. Mr. F. M. Funston, who had served diligently for ten years, resigned and was replaced by Mr. Neil Cameron, as a representative of the Presbytery of Geelong. Mr. Harold Anderson, who has represented the Old Collegians' Association for seventeen years, has also resigned, but has not yet been replaced. The Rev. Kenneth MacLean, who has recently resigned from St.

JUNE, 1967—53

David's parish through continued ill health, has been unable to attend Council meetings this year. The Council, and the whole school community, were distressed at the recent death of Mr. L. J. Campbell, and have expressed their sympathy to his sister.

I have taken as the theme of this report the gradual development of the physical, social and mental environment in which your sons may grow to full stature, because I wanted to make it clear that the provision of this environment is all that we here can do. The fees that you pay, and the generosity of benefactors past and present, ought to provide this adequate environment for your sons, but beyond that the matter is in their hands. There are in this life, fortunately, many things that money cannot buy, and one of them is the quality of character and self-discipline which allows a boy to make the best use of his opportunities. God created man free to choose between good and evil. We can present the good, but we cannot make a boy choose it. There are a small and, I think, decreasing minority of parents who seem always to blame the school when their sons do not turn out to have fine, upstanding, cheerful, personalities, or are not particularly successful academically. These are not commodities to be bought, and the fact that you pay what seem to be substantial fees means only that you have helped to provide a favourable environment for your sons. Indeed much of this environment was, in any case, already provided at no cost to you by past supporters of the College, and many of you are assisted with the fees by Government assistance or by scholarships and concessions, which in any one year here total about $25,000. What I am trying to say is that I believe you get your money's worth, even if sometimes you are a little disappointed at the result.

I usually find that I have almost reached the end of my report without making any specific reference to our religious activities or Christian basis. This is not because they are a matter of minor importance in the life of the school, but rather because they are so significant an element in all our theory and practice that it is impossible to speak of them as if they were in a separate compartment. It is precisely because we believe that the Christian "Law of love" is the key to man's happiness, and because of our faith in God's purpose for mankind, that so many of those associated with the College are prepared to take endless trouble to see that every boy is given the opportunity to develop to his full stature. We are well aware that Jesus meant to be taken seriously when he said:

"Suffer the little children to come unto me: for of such is the kingdom of God. It is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish. Whosoever shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea".
